Driven Out for Unfaithfulness.

Peter A. Nanson broke his promise to marry a girl, and circulated stories against her. For this offense, he was told by her brother that he must give up his prosperous business and leave the town. He refused, and a party of women visited his store, threatening him with tar and feathers if he did not quit. Still he persisted in living where he liked. Finally a body of men, including the Selectmen, Justices of the Peace, and a deputy sheriff waited upon him, while a mob blew horns in the street, and informed him that he must submit to banishment, or suffer very unpleasant consequences. He obeyed this time, and was pelted with eggs on his way to the railroad station. This did not happen in a wild border town of the west, but in Georgetown, a village of enlightened and law-abiding Massachusetts.

A Relic of the Stone Age in Nevada.

From the Eureka Leader.

We have been shown a curious relic picked up last week in the Spring Valley range, some twelve miles from town. In shape it bears a very strong resemblance to an elephant. It is of stone, about 2 1/2 inches long, and set on a base in the shape of a half moon. The trunk of the elephant is hollowed, and on the back is a bowl. It was no doubt used as a pipe by some aboriginal Schem of a date farther back than the Shoshone, as that tribe shows no aptitude or taste for stoneworking of any description.

How Cattle Have Suffered in Lake County.

The reports from Lake county, Oregon, are that large numbers of cattle that were well fed during the winter have died from excessive cold. The cold was so intense that it produced bleeding at the noses of stock. A large number of well conditioned stock had to be killed, from having their legs frozen by lying on the ice. In many instances the hoofs of the animals came off from the effects of cold. The loss of cattle and horses in that section will exceed one-third, while that of sheep and hogs must be greater.

Remarkable Changes of Partners.

Mr. Scott and Mrs. Kindred eloped from Decatur, Ill., leaving their lawful partners behind. It was nearly a year before their new place of residence was discovered. Then the deserted Mr. Kindred and Mrs. Scott went together to the wayward couple, reasoned with them as to their sin and folly, and offered to take them back to their respective homes. The negotiations ended in a complete reconciliation, and the Scott and Kindred households were re-established.

Love in a Cottage.

Lord Drummond, George Essex Montifex, grandson and heir of the English Earl of Perth, who married a girl of "the people," and has been enjoying love in a cottage at Brookhaven, L. I., for several years, brooking himself and wife by his rod and gun, has returned to his native land, and a reconciliation with the old Earl, accompanied, of course, by a restoration of his social position and "allowance," is prophesied.

THE NEVADA

MONTHLY.

To The Public:

THE UNEXPECTED DEMAND FOR COPIES of the Nevada Monthly, the popularity which the book has already obtained, and a desire on the part of the publisher to add many new and valuable features to its contents, has induced him to charge a small price for the magazine. This step has been taken after a thorough canvass of the field and a large subscription list. Many new contributors will be added, and the Monthly will be made correspondingly interesting and contain more reading matter. Its mining statistics, stock tables, etc., which will always be found reliable, will alone be, for future reference, worth the price of subscription, while its original sketches from the pens of some of Nevada's and California's brightest writers, its interesting and instructive selections, etc., will make it a welcome visitor to the family circle.

The rates of subscription, commencing with the April number, will be: By mail (postage paid) one year $3 50 " " " six months " 1 50 Single copies. 25

As an advertising medium, the Nevada Monthly will have no superior, its columns being eagerly read in every camp and mining town in Nevada and adjoining States and Territories. All advertisers will receive from the time their advertisements are inserted a complimentary copy.

Please send subscriptions by postal money order. Write name and address legibly.

J. J. QUINN FIRES THREE SHOTS AT S. BEEMER.

Full Particulars of the Affair—Quinn's Story—Beemer Refuses to Make Any Complaint—What The Spectators Say—The Case in Court.

The encounter between J. J. Quinn and S. Beemer occurred at so late an hour on Saturday that the GAZETTE was unable to give the particulars that evening. Mr. Beemer has since been asked by a reporter to make a statement in regard to the affair, but has declined to do so. The facts of the affair as nearly as can be ascertained from bystanders are as follows: Quinn was seen with a pistol in his hand, standing on the sidewalk in front of the Truckee Market. He fired three shots at Beemer, who kept within the shop. The first ball was stopped by a heavy memorandum book in a side pocket of Beemer's coat. The second ball cut through the clothing of his left side near the waist. The third passed the hips in front. Each ball cut its way through Beemer's clothes. The pistol used was one of the self-cocking pattern. The first shot would have probably proved fatal had not its course been arrested by the book. As soon as it was fired Beemer seized Quinn and while the men were struggling together, Mr. Fulmer, who was standing near, rushed in and seized Quinn after the third shot. Beemer then struck Quinn over the head, whereupon Fulmer released Quinn and took hold of Beemer. Mr. Fulmer took sides with neither of the men, and interfered simply to stop the fight.

BEEMER'S SIDE OF THE STORY.
Beemer's friends say that he is entirely justified for his share in the affair by Quinn's previous conduct. They state that the boy Detrick over whom the trouble originated was badly used by Quinn, who kept him hard at work and gave him no pay. Detrick left Quinn after sixteen months of such usage and went to Bodie, where he obtained employment with Gilson, Barber & Co. Quinn then wrote to the Bodie firm, referring to the boy as a hoodlum and giving him so bad a character that he was immediately discharged. This letter, it is claimed, was a malicious and cowardly libel. As Beemer and Quinn are each married to a sister of Detrick, Quinn's treatment of the boy made a family quarrel. On Saturday morning Mr. Barber of the Bodie firm passed through Reno on his way home, and showed Quinn's slanderous letter to Beemer and others. It closed with an injunction to keep its authorship a secret and was signed "J. J. Quinn." It was because of this letter that Beemer determined to "talk to" Quinn, with the result already stated. Quinn says that he and Beemer had not spoken before in seven months. No complaint against Quinn was made by anybody until Sunday morning. Beemer refusing to make one himself. On Sunday Constable Avery lodged a complaint, charging Quinn with an assault to commit murder. He then arrested him and took him before Justice Young. Quinn was put under bonds of $2,000 to appear for examination, his sureties being A. J. Clark and Doeh, the tinman. A GAZETTE reporter called upon Quinn this morning, and the following is his version of the matter:

QUINN'S EXPLANATION OF THE QUARREL.
Quinn said in substance that his and Beemer's brother-in-law, Eddie Detrick, a boy of 18, came to learn his trade with him in July, 1878. The agreement was that no wages were to be paid during the boy's apprenticeship. He was to have his board and washing for his work. Beemer constantly interfered between Quinn and the boy, telling the latter he ought to have wages, and making him dissatisfied with his place. The boy stayed with Quinn 16 months. After the fire he was instigated by Beemer to ask for $10 a month, which Quinn refused to pay. Detrick began keeping late hours, and one night when he came home at one o'clock, Quinn told him that he must reform or leave. The next day the boy left. Subsequently he went to Bodie and got work with Gilson, Barber & Co. Quinn then wrote a letter to them, telling what he knew about the boy. Beemer had ever since been talking about Quinn and calling him hard names. Quinn had heard that Beemer had been threatening him. Beemer called at Quinn's place last Friday to see him, but Quinn was out. On Friday night O. H. Perry heard Beemer say that he meant "to shut of Quinn's wind," and use like expressions concerning him. Perry told Quinn the same night what Beemer had said. Quinn told Perry that he would go well heeled and look out for Beemer, as he thought he meant mischief. Quinn carried a pistol with him all day Saturday.

QUINN'S ACCOUNT OF THE SHOOTING.
"About half past three o'clock on Saturday afternoon," said Quinn, "I went across the street to Flint's for some steak. I had just paid for it when Beemer stepped in and asked in a rough way what I meant by writing that letter to Bodie about the boy. I told him it was none of his business. Then he called me a—o. a. b.—and G—d—cur. I told him to shove his head and put a—plaster on it. Beemer continued to call me all the names he could think of, and I kept moving out of the shop. I took the meat over to my shop and came right back. I had the pistol with me all the time in the pocket of my overalls. When I came back Beemer was squatting down on the doorstep. I went up to him and said: 'Beemer, I don't propose to have you call me names and abuse me.' Beemer answered: 'What are you going to do about it?' I said: 'I'll do a damn sight about it.' Beemer then jumped back into the shop, shoved his left hand into the side pocket of his coat, and said as he took a step forward: 'Turn her loose, you—o. a. b.—' I then drew my pistol and fired. Beemer caught hold of me and I shot again. I don't know whether twice or three times. I think Beemer was a little drunk. Right after the shooting I went down to the Justice's court to be put under bonds. The Judge was not in and I waited there an hour."

The examination of Quinn before Justice Young has been set for Saturday next at 10 p. m. As M. Nathan, one of Quinn's witnesses, has gone to San Francisco, it has been set so far ahead in order that his evidence may be taken on his return. The District Attorney will, however, probably present the case to the Grand Jury tomorrow, and if they find a true bill against Quinn the matter will at once be taken out of the Justice's court.

CLOSE OF THE FAIR.

A List of the Prizes, Lucky Numbers and Names of the Winners.

The theatre was well filled on Saturday evening, the last night of the Catholic Fair. There was little room for dancing, and the crush was at times terrific. The spectators of the round dances would form a ring on the floor, and within this circle the dancers were confined. Some daring couple would at times extend the ring by waiting around its edge on the toes and excrecences of the spectators, but the crowd would quickly close in again. There is said to be little pleasure in dancing on the toes of others; they are so irregular that dancers prefer the floor. However there was plenty of fun, and the numerous bumps were submitted to good naturedly, as something to be expected. An excellent supper was served in the hall about 11 o'clock. The sale of tickets for chances in all sorts of things continued until a late hour, when lots were cast and the prizes awarded. The Fair was kept up until midnight. It has proved a financial success and the managers are well satisfied, although the net proceeds cannot yet be given. The following is a list of the prizes drawn, and the winning numbers or the names of the lucky ones:

Silver Pitcher—No. 96. Picture, "Beatrice de Cenci"—104. Lady's Wrapper—7. Lady's Hat—E. Hannon of Virginia. Gentleman's Dressing Gown—M. L. Holland. Girl's Hat—Mr. Pinniger. Slippers—Irene Young. Picture, "Easter Cross"—Annie Shaw. China Set—No. 23. Pair of Vases—Maggie Sullivan. Felt Hat—No. 1. Lamp mat—Robert Jones. Doll boy—Mrs. Russick. Doll bride—Lillie Mann. Doll widow—Mrs. Sproul (presented to the Sisters of the Convent). Shawl—Mrs. Russick. Hidden treasure (a pair of doves in a work basket)—Margaret Shimmie. Guess cake—Mr. Shaw. The prize for beauty (a pair of gold bracelets) was won by Miss Mary Wintermantel, who sold the ballots, presided at the polls, and was the Returning Board. Other particulars will be published as soon as they can be ascertained.

Real Estate Transfers.

The following transfers have been recorded since our last report:
S. Connor to Geo. Graves—Lots 4 and 9, block C, Connor's Addition, for $700.
Kate Banham to Jas. A. Ferguson—Fractional lot 4, block E, for $300.
Louis Togni to M. A. Stice—40 acres west of Reno, for $300.
M. Gillies and wife to Jas. A. Ferguson—Lot 6 in block B, Connor's Survey, for $1,320.
B. F. Sheldon to John W. Boynton—The Coast's Ranch, 160 acres, at Glendale, for $900.
N. J. Salisbury and Mrs. H. Bayless to James B. Caine—west 50 feet of lot 1, block 5, Western Addition, for $350.
P. N. Marker to El Dorado W. & F. Co.—490 acres of timber land, for $1,567.50.
F. C. Updike to C. W. Clark—Fractional lot 8, block W, for $100.
C. T. Adams to Jas. A. Ferguson—Lot 5, block D, Connor's Survey, for $280.
Cyrille Beasne to P. N. Marker—160 acres timber land, for $300.

Now it is The Doctor's Turn.

A physician who recently visited Wadsworth relates the following anecdote of "L. S. B."
"You must be a brave man," someone remarked to the pedagogue the other day. "Why?" he asked. "To trust yourself on those legs of yours" was the reply.
This reminded the physician of J. H. Kinkadee's reply to Burchard when the latter asked him what he would recommend as an appropriate character for a masquerade ball. "Chalk your head and go as a billiard cue," was the answer.

The Public School Closed.

The Reno public school will be closed for the remainder of the present week, and reopen next Monday morning. There was no vacation at the end of the last term, as an early removal to the new school house was contemplated. As the removal will not take place until the close of the present term, the Trustees have decided to give the teachers and pupils a needed rest.

THE SHEEP MARKET.

Losses During the Winter—The Survivors in Poor Condition, and High Prices Resulting.

J. C. Cutting, well-known as a large dealer in sheep, is in town, in attendance upon the District Court as a witness in the case of Buckley vs. Buckley. His brother George is on their range at Pyramid lake, looking after the sheep they have wintered there. Mr. Cutting states that the sheep at Pyramid have suffered severely this winter. He does not yet know the exact loss, but estimates that out of their band at Pyramid, which numbered over 6,000, at least 600, or ten per cent. of the whole, have died. They also have a band at Dayton, where the loss has not been so great. Of 1,280 there, about eighty have perished.

Owing to the severity of the winter, the sheep on this side of the Sierra have been reduced to such poor condition that they are unfit for market, and in consequence the supply of mutton for western Nevada and Bodie now all comes from California. Mr. Cutting buys extensively in southern California. He had just received here 650 sheep from San Bernardino, which are now on the way to Bodie. They cost $3.50 per head in San Bernardino, and the expense of freight, commission, etc., from that point to Reno is from $1.75 to $1.90 per head. They bring about $6 in Bodie, which leaves a very small margin for profit. Sheep are very high this year. Only a few seasons back they were selling at $1 per head on the ranges in Nevada.

The Cutting Bros. were some months ago notified by Indian Agent Spencer to vacate their range at Pyramid, on the ground that it was within the limits of the Indian reservation. They removed the sheep from the range after receiving the notice, but the brothers, believing that they have a valid claim to the range, subsequently caused the sheep to be driven back again, and there they still remain.

A Celebrated Case.

The trial of the case of Buckley vs. Buckley was begun in the District Court to-day, Judge Bonfield of Humboldt presiding. Judge King is disqualified from trying the case, having at one time been employed as counsel in the action. This case has been in the courts for six or seven years. It has been through that period tossed like a shuttlecock between the District and the Supreme court. The present status of the case would puzzle a lawyer to determine. The original cause of action was concerning the ownership of a band of sheep. S. Buckley, the defendant, had a son, who died. The son's wife laid claim to a certain lot, parcel, herd, drove, or flock of sheep then in the possession of the defendant, or some other party. Then a replevin was put upon the sheep, or the sheep were pastured upon the replevin. The sheep finally died of litigation, or were converted into mutton. Their death or decay did not for a moment arrest the progress of the suit. The costs have now swelled to a large amount, lawyer Cain who appears for the defence, having, it is said, alone advanced over $1,200 for legal expenses. Lewis & Deal of Virginia and Knox of Reno appear for the plaintiff. She, by the way, has changed her name since the suit commenced, and is now Mrs. Jos. Pierce. The case will probably engross the attention of the Court for several days.

A Case Of Motherly Devotion.

A squaw was hard at work all day Saturday, scrubbing the floor of the Reform Club hall, the passage way and the stairs. She kept her papoose on her back all the time, fastened in its little wicker cradle, with the band passing over the mother's forehead. The papoose was six months old and pretty heavy. The child did not cry once during the whole day. One might suppose that the squaw would have occasionally eased herself of her burden by propping up the papoose against the wall, but she seemed not to think of such a thing. The famous sobriety of the Indian warrior is evidently equalled by the devotion of the Indian mother to her child.

The Steam Wagons at Wadsworth.

The steam wagons designed to be used in freighting from Wadsworth to points south of that place will be employed to haul ore, etc. from San Antonio in Nye county. The remaining machinery will arrive in one or two days from the East, and the whole will then be drawn in a wagon by "mule power" to their destination. If these new wagons prove successful at San Antonio they may be used in hauling freight from Wadsworth. No report of dissatisfaction from the teamsters, on account of the change of programme by the owners of the steam freighters, have been heard.

D. Banks McKenzie Receives a Call.

D. Banks McKenzie has received a call from the Baptist congregation of Reno to become their pastor. He goes to San Francisco tomorrow and after consulting with his friends there, and giving the matter full consideration, will decide upon his answer. Mr. McKenzie has many friends in Reno and the Baptists are anxious to secure him for their ministry. He thinks favorably of the proposal, and states that if he accepts it, he will continue to devote himself to the cause of temperance, so far as his time can be spared from the ministry.
